Geza joined Comsat in 1982 as a member of the Information Services team developing software for various Comsat divisions. In the 1990's he became Director of Information Services at the Labs, where he was in charge of accounts payable, general ledger, contracts, budgets, procurement, inventory control, and fixed assets as well as the computers that ran these applications. In 1998, he joined Hughes Network Systems responsible for a major part of the HNS Year 2000 conversion effort. From 2001 to the end of 2010, he was the manager of computing services for Lockheed Martin in Rockville, MD, responsible for servers, networks, and personal computers for 6,000 users.

In 2012, he became the Assistant Treasurer of COMARA. In this position, he helped to increase membership dues payments and performed all treasury functions. In 2014, he was appointed Treasurer by the Comara Board. On 1/1/2014, Comara assets were approximately $30,700 when Geza began his duties as Treasurer. Through robust membership drives, fundraising efforts, and judicious investments, Geza grew Comara's assets to $53,000 by 1/1/2020, an increase of 73%.

With the many the activities that he performs for Comara, he wants to make sure that each of Comara's 500 members are up to date with their annual membership payments.
